

Pygmalion

SYDNEY
THEATRE
CO

Where:

Sydney Theatre
Hickson Rd, Sydney

When:

Thursday 23 February 2012
8:00pm—10:15pm

For our patrons who are deaf and use Auslan, and their companions, tickets are just $55.00 and can be booked by emailing the STC Box Office:

boxoffice@sydneytheatre.com.au or calling (02) 9250 1777 (transaction fees will apply).

Peter Evans' production blows away the clichés sometimes associated with the brutal and hilarious play that has inspired interpretations as diverse as My Fair Lady, Educating Rita and the 80s Hollywood film Pretty Woman, now transporting the tale into today's image obsessed world where personalities are created and quashed overnight.

Exploring the themes of identity and uniqueness, the production takes us through the journey of constructing a persona as Professor Henry Higgins aims to transform the wild Eliza into a star. Eliza is subject of a wager between the phonetics expert and his friend Colonel Pickering, naive to the fact that she is becoming Higgins' lab rat in the process.

Interpreters:

Kylie Scott & Rebecca Cramp

